

SPEECH

Good morning respected Principal, teachers, and my dear friends.

I am Akhilesh, and today I'm not here just to ask for your vote.

I'm here to ask for your trust.

Let me ask you something...

How many of you want a Head Boy who listens before he speaks?

How many of you want a Head Boy who stands with students, not in front of them?

And how many of you want a Head Boy who turns ideas into action?

If your answer is "yes," then this speech is for you.

I believe leadership is not about a badge on the shirt.

It's about responsibility in the heart.

A famous movie dialogue says:

"If the leader is strong, the team becomes stronger."

But I believe something even more important:

"If the students are united, no challenge is impossible."

My dear friends,

Every great team needs a captain.

Every great journey needs a guide.

And every great school needs leaders who listen, respect, and act.

Think about it...

A single student can have an idea.

A class can have a dream.

But when an entire school stands together, that dream becomes reality.

If I become your Head Boy, I won't just represent the school.

I will represent every student.

Your ideas.

Your concerns.

Your dreams.

Because a leader's greatest strength is not his position—
it's the people who believe in him.

So today, I ask you one final question:

When you stand in front of the ballot, will you choose a name...
or will you choose a leader?

A leader who listens.

A leader who acts.

A leader who stands beside you when it matters most.

I am Akhilesh.

Not here for the badge.

Here to support every student, lead with you—not above you—and turn your ideas into action.

Remember the name.

Remember the vision.

Remember the promise.

This is Akhilesh, signing off.

Thank you.